

8 STUDENTS SELECTED TO PARTICIPATE IN FUTUROLOGY CONFERENCE IN U. S. A.

The list of student participants in the 2007 World Futurology Workshop just came out!

After competitive evaluation, 8 students, including Mao Chi-wei, junior student of Department of Public Administration, are selected as school representatives to participate in the conference to be held in Minnesota, U.S.A., July 29 to 31.

One of selected participants to the workshop, Liao Pei-chun said, “I really want to see the scholars of futurology as soon as possible, and hope that I can exchange the knowledge learned from the books with them. Also, I want to make some foreign friends.”

The names of the eight representatives are as follows: Mao Chi-wei, junior student of class B of Department of Public Administration; Kuo Yu-tsi, junior of class B of Department of International Trade; Cheng Yu-zu, sophomore, class C of Department of Finance; Shin Yi, junior, class B of Department of English; Tein Si-wei, Lin Chi-wen, Liao Pei-chun, and Lin Yuen-je, first year graduate students of Graduate Institute of Future Studies.
