

Students Reliving their Childhood at Tamkang

On March 24, the Black Swan Exhibition Hall, Tamsui Campus, was home to the “4WD Final Matchup” , which featured 30 remote control mini-4WDs. Organized by the Department of Architecture, the event provided a platform for students to relive their childhood by racing miniature race cars on a winding track constructed by architecture students.

The idea for the competition was born during a casual conversation between a group of students reminiscing about their childhood. “Architecture students come up with a lot of crazy ideas. But most of the ideas never even reach paper” , Li Cheng-wei, one of the organizers, noted. This time, however, their idea was transformed into reality. “We wanted to prove that our idea was more than just empty words” .

Their idea was well-received, with a large number of like-minded enthusiasts taking part. Fourth year student, Sung Di-yan, who participated in the competition, exclaimed: for us students born in the 90s, these mini-4WDs are a part of our collective memory!”
