

A Twin Class of French and Japanese Conversation Classes Is Now Recruiting New Students

A twin class of French and Japanese conversation classes will be offered to interested students, as International Exchanges & International Education, TKU, made this announcement to Tamkang e-times.

Both classes will be conducted by exchange students from the original two countries. Often, as it happened in the past, many students enrolled in these classes, but IE&IE also wishes to warn students that learning a foreign language needs both patience and perseverance; so, think twice before you enlist yourself in the class.

There are two classes offered in the Japanese section: the Primary and the Intermediary; as for the French, only a Primary class will be available. Every class will take students around 20 to 30 in number and the meeting time is every Monday from 6:00 to 8:00 P.M. Please contact L404.
