

Military Education Officers Doing Physical Chores on Campus: Three Cheers to Them!

As of last Thursday, around 8 A.M., a unique scene has appeared in T.K.U. campus, as we see Mr. Yao Rong-tai, Director of Military Education & Training, leading all his staff to set up a campaign of cleaning up the garbage left after the devastation of Typhoon Nari. This altruistic act will continue every Thursday throughout the month of September.

On seeing their enthused colleague doing this physical chore, all the witnessing faculty would stand still, giving them a resounding applause.

Some naive students mistook their military instructors to be menial laborers—what a shame! They felt invigorated after having identified their mistake, and swore henceforth never to be a litter bug.
